Connections Corner Provides Sampling of Articles About the World of Parenting Multiples

Franklin, TN – Looking for a good read with a multiple twist? Perhaps it’s a story about twins building a business together. Or the tale of a parents of multiples club who built a special playground for their community. Or news about how triplets navigate the school experience.

Multiples of America has been publishing quality articles focused on the experiences of parents with twins or more for decades. In fact, our organizational publication, Multiple Connections, formerly named NOMOTC’s Notebook, was first published just following our founding in 1960.

For the last 60 years, those articles have been reserved for members. Now, a new feature on our website is changing all of that. Connections Corner will allow everyone to take a peek at just a few of the stories.

The purpose of Connections Corner is to raise awareness of the unique stories and dilemmas involved in parenting multiples and to provide a sample of the material available to our members.

Four articles will be available at the launch of Connections Corner. Articles about:

- The Undeniable Connection Between Multiples,
- School Placement for Three of More,
- Famous Fictional Multiples, and
- The Twin Court Case Heard Round the World.

New content will be added each month.

Come to our Corner to learn more about the world of parenting multiples. Come to get connected and inspired. Look for Connections Corner to launch on our website in November.
