Online 'Zoom Connect' Events Continue to Spark Inspiration, Learning, Networking

Franklin, TN - "Love is something you never run out of. It's probably the only thing in the world that grows the more you use it," Helene Joubert writes in her book, Joy Through the Journey: My 100 Years of Life, Marriage, and Raising 13 Children.

That was the topic at the most recent Zoom Connect for Multiples of America's members. Can love be limitless? How does that translate when raising large families with multiple birth children?

The Zoom Connect centered around Joubert's experiences in raising a family of 13 children, including three sets of twins, one set of triplets, and four singletons. Joubert penned her memoir at the age of 101, and seven of her children were on hand to add further insight into their day-to-day life as a family.

To some, amenities may have seemed sparse: one bathroom, one car, all six boys sleeping in the same bedroom. But it never seemed crowded, according to Wayne Joubert, and joy was in abundance.

"Through it all, my parents had a way of finding the joy in life," Dennis Joubert confirmed.

This discussion was just one of the ways Multiples of America brings members from across the United States together online for inspiration, learning, and networking. Nationally known experts "zoom in" to offer tips and takeaways specific to parenting multiples, nurturing self-growth, or managing local chapters. Some events target the needs of expectant parents and parents with young twins, triplets, or more; others extend to all ages.

Topics of past events have centered on identity issues, conflict in adult twin relationships, and education issues specific to multiple birth children. Connects planned in the next few months include a look at recognizing developmental delays during the early years, expanding personal leadership skills, and boosting membership and participation in local chapters.

A special Zoom Connect for parents with young multiples, entirely in Spanish, is also planned for early in 2027. ¿Por qué se despierta mi bebé? Sueño de gemelos y multiples (Why is my baby waking up?)

Check the Multiples of America website for more information on these events or about how members can access a storehouse of parenting resources through the Members Only section of the organization's website. Information about joining the organization through a local club or as a direct member or affiliate member can also be found online.
